CAMERON M. BURNS has written, co-authored, edited, and contributed to twenty books and thousands of newspaper and magazine articles related to climbing, adventure, and travel. He has climbed extensively in East Africa, North and South America, and Australia.

Awesome.

I used the book to plan my climbs of Mount Meru and Mount Kenya (Point Lenana). I found the book very accurate and useful. I would recommend the book to other people.

This is a very comprehensive book on climbing in East Africa. There is good information about basic nuts and bolts stuff that is good to know. It did not, however, cover the specific climbing route I am using (Lemosho Route), had to try to piece it together out of other descriptions.
