Customer Reviews

Sixth-generation Texan June Naylor has been a food and travel journalist and dining critic for more than 20 years, and she's penned three cookbooks with noted Texas chefs. Culinary travel assignments have led her to Thailand and France, New Zealand and Argentina, and throughout the Southwest U.S. She has served as a Regional Panelist for the James Beard Foundation Restaurant Awards committee and is a member of Les Dames d'Escoffier . While writing about food and travel for the Fort Worth-based luxury magazine called 360 West, she also contributes stories toÂ  Â American Way, USA Today, Dallas Morning News, Texas Highways and Texas Monthly while also running a culinary events company in Fort Worth, Texas.

I bought this as a gift to someone moving to the Dallas area. I looked through the book and it seemed to have many reviews of restaurants. I have 4 stars due to the book not having pictures of the places written about.

I absolutely love this book! It is such a great tool to use for trying new restaurants in Fort Worth or Dallas! It's also a great gift for someone who has just moved to one of those places! It's so informative and right on the money on everything! June is always so successful in everything she does!

Well written and informative guide. Excellent for diners, visitors and perfect for foodies. Wondering where to eat? Not any more! So many wonderful places where I plan to enjoy a meal. Can't wait! Great guide!

June Naylor does her usual great job of checking out and writing about the various restaurants in the D-FW area. I have learned to trust her reviews as being honest.
