Margaret Wise Brown, cherished for her unique ability to convey a child's experience and perspective of the world, transformed the landscape of children's literature with such beloved classics as Goodnight Moon and The Runaway Bunny. Other perennial favorites by Ms. Brown include Nibble Nibble, My World, Where Have You Been?, Christmas in the Barn, The Dead Bird, and Sneakers, the Seaside Cat. Jean Charlot was a master lithographer and muralist whose works are a part of the collections of the Museum of Modern Art and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

I love this book!! My three year old and I read it just about every night at bedtime. It's perfect, not too long or short. My daughter loves it so much that she has memorized the ENTIRE book word for word! Now she insists on "reading" it to me at bedtime. I was surprised to find it had a lovely prayer on the last page,... didn't think it was a religious sort of book until I got to that last page. Even though I'm not a very religious person I still enjoy this book and recommend it to everyone.

This is one of the most wonderful bedtime books ever. Soothing and reassuring. I miss reading it to my daughter. There is a short prayer at the end blessing all the sleeping creatures in the world.....can easily be skipped if that's not your thing.

I remembered this book from my son's childhood and decided to reorder it since I could not find my copy. We originally had the paperback which is how I remember the illustrations. The hardback copy has reformatted the images such that the borders cut off some of the illustrations - or to me it looks as if they have. The illustrations look cramped. It takes away from the relaxing ambiance of the book. I'm picky about artwork so I will be ordering the paperback as well which seems to have a larger frame for the illustrations.

I bought this book for my son because I had an old ratty one for my 15 year old daughter. I used to read it to her all the time when she was little and we loved it. So when my son was born I knew I wanted to get him his own copy.

I adore this. Same author as "Goodnight Moon" but is more pleasing overall in my opinion.

I wasn't expecting it to be an old library book . Strangely enough our post person jammed it in the mail box (instead of bringing it to the house) The pictures are lovely and the wording is like a lullaby. I like Margaret Wise Brown's books.

Classic!! We have been enjoying this little treasure for decades. It is nice for new baby. Can not go wrong with this author.

This book is simple, but lovely. No question why it won a Caldecott award. Simply story easy for young children to follow. Good use of color and artwork to illustrate different parts.
