Pamela Kennedy loves writing for children and has authored more than thirty books of stories, prayers, and devotions. In her spare time she enjoys hiking, playing with her grandchildren, and exploring the beaches of Puget Sound. Pam and her husband currently live in Seattle, Washington.

This is different from the normal devotion books that I have done with my children but we have all enjoyed these devotions. We learn about God, and animals at the same time. It keeps the children engaged with the questions at the end and makes them think about different things. Definitely would recommend to friends. My kids are 5 and 7. I would think this would be good for 3 or 4 year olds (at youngest) and maybe up through about 9-10. Interesting animal facts but it is all tied back to a character trait that God wants to instill in all of us. I have enjoyed learning with my kids. it is a short devotion so it is not super involved but perfect for a short devotion.

My Aunt sent this and we really like it. It is great for a quick morning devotion before school for our 4-6 year olds. I like that it includes a daily verse that we try to work on as a memory verse. The animal stories are just at the right level and the message seems to really stick with the kids!

We ordered this to be part of our circle time in our homeschool. We love it! It has beautiful and fun illustrations, as well as simple questions to check for comprehension and encourage children to think about what God asks of them in their lives. It focuses on a different animal or insect each day and draws out a trait of that creature and shows how we should emulate that trait. There is also a verse for each one that ties in. It's a wonderful book to have for the children in your life!

My kids love this book. They are hooked in with interesting animal facts and then I can keep their attention for the biblical life lessons. Very interesting. Using it as a part of our home-school curriculum. Good for all ages!

This book is used in our homeschool curriculum and I think it has wonderful devotions to teach our kids how to live and live for God. 2 thumbs up and can't wait to take my daughter through it too!!

Very nice book. The stories are short, informative and well written. I'm really glad I bought this book and my daughter loves it.

Love this book. It is seriously 5 minute devotions! My kids and I read the devotion that corresponds with their homeschool curriculum and they love the animals and facts in the book. We sometimes talk for a long time about the topic/lesson they are so interesting to my kids.

Our four-year old son has loved this book. We've read through it twice now and he still asks for it. Building the character lessons into animal sketches was really smart.
