Customer Reviews

The content of this book is, in many ways, one of a kind. Rarely (if ever) will you hear that "Buddha and Jesus have a lot in common" which the author states multiple times. He also gives many examples of why he considers this a valid statement. The author says, "What I intend to emphasize are the many largely unknown similarities between Buddhism and Christianity, which can serve as a starting point for cross-cultural communication. Yet I will be clear about what the differences between Buddhism and Christianity are." His focus on Buddha's teachings as a bridge for Christian evangelism of Buddhists is quite powerful. There are stories about the life and teachings of Buddha that you will have never heard elsewhere, and that can certainly be used to present the Gospel in a relevant manner when sharing your faith with a Buddhist.

Insightful and extremely interesting. Definitely presents a different side of Buddhism than is seen in the Americanized practice of Buddhism. A very different take on this ancient religion.

Many Buddhists are seeking peace. Christians know that Jesus is the Prince of Peace but somehow cannot communicate this well. Steve points out that the teachings of Buddha are similar to Jesus' in many ways. The doctrine of Karma points out the impossibility of paying for our own sin. The 5 commands are very similar to the Ten Commandments. Steve suggests using these 5 as tools to awaken the conscience of a Buddhist and then point them to the one who was born without Karma and who paid the full price for all our Karma. Some points made are open for question but the basic thrust of the book is very helpful.

Written with passion and love for God. Good comparisons between Buddhism and Christianity. Engaging and easy to read. Definitely recommend!

Unbelievably fantastic reading. Makes perfect sense. Every Christian should read this book with an open mind. Learned so much and have actually confirmed a lot of the teachings in this book to be true.

An informative book about Buddhism written by one with a unique experience of having been raised Buddhist and converting to Christianity,

This book is just amazing.

I was deeply disappointed and offended by the author's shallow appreciation and lack of insight into Buddhism. The author claims in one of many biased and mistaken interpretations of Buddhism that, "Buddha taught that human nature is a sinful nature." The doctrine of original sin is peculiar to Christianity and Buddhists do not subscribe to this view. Buddha taught that we are good, loving and peaceful by nature and this truth can be experienced by engaging in Buddhist practice.
